ANNUAL REPORT

2023 IN REVIEW

A Year of Growth and Impact: RMHCCNAZ in 2023

2023 was an incredible year for Ronald McDonald House Charities® of Central and Northern Arizona. Together, with our community partners, we provided essential services that removed barriers, strengthened families, and promoted healing when children needed healthcare.

In 2023, we served more families than ever before.

- 2,171 families visits, up 45% from 2022.
- 20,400 nights of rest, up 31% from 2022.
- A home-away-from-home was provided for 1,208 families, up 20% from 2022.
- The average distance families traveled who stayed with us was 301 miles.

Pediatric healthcare is a tough business. Reimbursement rates are lower, treatment is more complicated and requires more resources, and an increase in demand for children who need behavioral health services all add to the challenges for pediatric providers. More and more families are having to travel hundreds of miles to receive medical treatment and care for their children.

What would it cost families if RMHCCNAZ didn't exist? This year, we looked at the cost of lodging and meals/incidentals families would endure when forced to travel for pediatric medical care away from home.

Lodging: The Arizona Office of Tourism Statewide Lodging Performance, Fourth Quarter 2023, shared the average daily rate of a hotel was $165.75.

$$165.75 \times 20,400 \text{ nights of rest} = $3,381,300$

Meals/Incidentals: The U.S. General Services Information for Phoenix/Scottsdale, Fourth Quarter 2023, was $69.00 per day.

$$69.00 \times 52,120 \text{ volunteer meals served in 2023} = $3,596,280$

The total benefit for families in 2023 was $6,977,580!

With mounting medical bills and basic life expenses, we know most families would not be able to afford to stay in hotels, purchase meals, and incidentals while away. For many families, this would mean sleeping in a vehicle or bedside and eating out of vending machines. Not ideal. Not healthy. Not safe.

Our team takes immense pride in offering families a safe and comfortable place to stay, healthy meals and snacks, the ability for families to stay together, and the chance to meet and bond with other families who are also experiencing challenging times.

We had an incredible year. We helped thousands of families when they needed us. All services and resources are provided at no cost to our guest families. Ever.

Together, we have made a difference in the lives of others.

Thank you,

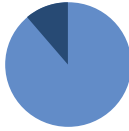

Kerry Schulman

Yuma Mom Creates Hospital Room Surprise For Five-Year-Old Cash

Five-year-old Cash loves building miniature volcanoes with his mom, Tamara Lozano. So, she figured out a way to build a science project volcano in his hospital room during his weeks of inpatient hospital care to correct issues with his heart. Engineering and watching the bedside eruption was a reward for Cash making it through another uncomfortable medical procedure. Tamara credits Ronald McDonald House® as her "home away from home" with giving her the ability to create a moment of joy for her son during a difficult time.

"Staying at Ronald McDonald House gives me peace of mind," says Tamara, who resides with Cash and her 15-year-old daughter Olivea in Somerton, about 10 miles south of Yuma. "I'm able to show up better for my son in big and small ways because my basic needs are taken care of at the House. I can detach from the hospital to sleep and recharge."

Doctors first noticed Cash's heart wasn't developing correctly during a routine anatomy ultrasound while Tamara was still pregnant. In the womb, Cash had both transposition of the great arteries, or TGA, and pulmonary stenosis, a narrowing of the pulmonary valve. Doctors explained Cash would need a series of surgeries to correct the congenital heart defects throughout the first few years of his life.

Tamara's first stay at RMHCCNAZ took place just a couple months after this discovery, while she was still pregnant and waiting to go into labor in Phoenix. In fact, the family has spent several stints at Ronald McDonald House as Cash underwent a series of surgeries at Phoenix Children's to correct the congenital heart defects. Cash's most recent hospitalization began with an emergency helicopter ride from Yuma to Phoenix after a bout with COVID caused colitis in his stomach. Cash's heart wasn't strong enough to pump oxygenated blood to his intestines, which sent him into shock. Surgeons had to wait for Cash's body to fight off the virus so he would be strong enough for the heart surgery that would save his life. Tamara slept on a small couch next to Cash's hospital bed until a spot became available at the Roanoke House in Phoenix, where she stayed for nearly 90 nights.

Four long weeks after he was initially Life Flighted from Yuma to Phoenix Children's, doctors decided the life-saving heart surgery couldn't wait any longer. Today, Cash is on his way to recovery. He was released from the hospital and will live at Ronald McDonald House with his mom and older sister for several weeks while he continues to get stronger and goes to frequent follow-up appointments.

Reflecting on her experience, Tamara explains how difficult it was not knowing if her son would survive. "All of my strength came from my faith," she said. Tamara hopes to return home to Somerton soon. But in the meantime, she's taking it one day at a time. "When I think too far into the future, I start to worry," says Tamara. "I have to remind myself that if something goes wrong, we have access to a hospital, and if we have to go to the hospital, we will have help from Ronald McDonald House. Our needs will be taken care of, and I only have to worry about being mom for Cash and Olivea."
